Florida offers 32 state operated schools that offer programs specific to students with disabilities.

The Florida Center for Students with Unique Abilities at the University of Central Florida (referred to as the Center or FCSUA) manages the Florida Postsecondary Comprehensive Transition Program (FPCTP).

The Center serves as the state coordinating center to establish and support quality comprehensive transition and postsecondary programs for students with intellectual disabilities in collaborating with universities, state and technical colleges, with the goal of increasing independent living and competitive integrated employment. The Center also establishes criteria for FPCTP approval, scholarship awards for eligible students to attend approved programs, grant awards to promote new program development and existing program enhancements, and accountability requirements associated with these opportunities.

The long-term vision is to utilize state resources to increase college opportunities, meaningful credentials and employment for individuals with intellectual disabilities.

Visit www.FCSUA.org to find details specific to schools, programs, scholarships and other state sponsored offerings.
